

THE HISTORY OF ST. LOUIS ACADEMY

No school records exist prior to 1900 where St. Louis Church maintained a school for the children of the parish. It was under the pastorate of Rev. F. X. Labonte, that six acres of land was purchased from Francois Boitet, on September 1, 1897 and a school was built as well as a dwelling for the Sisters. The school was opened in 1900 under the patronage of "Saint Joseph", and the Sisters of St. Agnes were in charge of the school.

It is not known for how long the Sisters of St. Agnes remained at St. Joseph, but the school closed after a few short years. On September 3, 1910 the Rev. Michael Louen opened the school with three Sisters of Notre Dame in charge and 66 pupils in attendance.

On January 29, 1915 a fire of unknown origin destroyed both the frame school building and the sisters' house. The school did not close, but instead the students were moved into the rectory with the good pastor moving into the summer kitchen of a Mrs. Pio, who lived across the highway. Tables, boxes, sewing machines anything that had height was used as desks, and the following Tuesday after the fire, classes resumed. When school closed for summer vacation, the sisters stayed at St. Mary's during the rebuilding, and on October 4, 1915 with three teachers and 116 students the school began classes.

The new building was dedicated on Thanksgiving Day, 1915 under the name of Saint Louis Academy. Three Sisters of Notre Dame taught eight grades in three of the four classrooms, and the other room was used as a chapel at times. continued on page 11.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Am I just getting older and the time going by just too quickly or am I not planning my time wisely? It seems as if I find myself running to catch up with the next month while still looking behind to see if I did miss anything from the previous month. This does get old after awhile!!

We locals in the society did manage to take a 'breather' somewhat last year, and it seemed good for a change. The two outstanding events by the society was the trip to France by a few members and the Christmas concert which was a joint effort by both the church choir and the society. The concert was a great success, and thanks to all the people who made it possible. Plus, it was fun and the refreshments were fantastic!

A recent meeting by the Board of Directors, January 2001, reached a decision that the society should limit itself to only two projects this year. The two projects are: the completion of reading/compiling the church baptismal/marriage records, and the reading the "new cemetery" of Saint Louis. Later, a committee will be formed and the main project for 2002 will be compiling a family genealogies with some photos into a book. This project will officially start the first of the year, 2002.

If you have not visited the archives recently, you will be surprised to find beautiful Anderson windows that open out. This creates a great deal of more light into the rooms plus the beautiful view of the immediate surroundings. Next step, you guessed it - plastering/painting around the windows and staining the woodwork. Any volunteers out there? Also, you will find the genealogy section moved into the "Townsend Library" room. More space was needed for research/history books in the "Pailloz/Isabey Library" room. This allows more room for doing research as well.

Enclosed in with the "Chronicle" newsletter you will find the program schedule for this year, 2001. I think the members of the Board have made a wonderful and interesting program for you to enjoy. Please come and be supportive.

Let's all try to make an extra effort to attend the monthly meetings. Carlton Giant, treasurer, promised to make homemade wine for us to take home if we can keep our attendance at twenty people each month. Now, I call that a challenge! And, I said, "to take home". The good 'Father' would not take to kindly if he found us still there on Sunday, sipping wine and trying to do genealogy — we would all end up in the 'confessional booth'.

Avez un bon ètè - have a good summer

Sincerely,
Gene

DODANE HISTORY:

A BRIEF HISTORY AND ORIGIN OF THE FAMILY BY RAYMOND DODANE OF BESANÇON, FRANCE

The Dodane Family comes from around Morteau in the French department of Doubs which is a few kilometers from the Swiss border. Around the year 1000, the Cluny Abbey which is very famous in France, received as a donation the Val de Morteau which was completely uninhabited and there were only large pine forests. To clear away the trees the monks hired some inhabitants of Besançon. One of these workers was called Henryot which was his Christian or first name, because in those days they did not have surnames.

Henryot built a farm at a place called "Dodane les Mourlets", because of the shape of the terrain. From the name Henryot "de (of) Dodane", only the Dodane has remained. Each generation of Dodanes had from 10 to 15 children as big families were very much honored at the time.

To make and confirm the family tree by more than just the simple oral tradition I had to go back first of all to 1792 which was quite easy because the civil register of births, deaths and marriages has existed in France since that date. For the period before that I had to refer to the baptism register kept by the priests at Montlebon which is the parish where the Dodane and Mourlet farms were situated. Before the creation of this parish the priors of the church of Morteau were listed. Only the priors knew how to read and write, and I might add, that they only wrote in Latin and the inhabitants of the valley of Morteau spoke a dialect that existed up until the 20th century.

The Val de Morteau belong to Franche-Comte and since 1150 the inhabitants of this area had tried to escape from the tutelar of the lords. Franche-Comte belonged to the kingdom of Charles V., (1500-1558), emperor of Germany. In 1678 it was conquered by the King of France, Louis XIV.

In the middle of the 16th century, some members of the Dodane Family were converted to Protestantism and immigrated to Switzerland after the revocation of the Edit of Nantes. Tired of the revolution of 1789, of the Napoleon Wars and the revolution of 1830 and the apprehension of the revolution to come in 1848, another part of the family accompanied by several other families from the area migrated to the United States between the two revolutions of 1830 and 1848.....courtesy of Gladys Nail Lomont

The Dodane family place of origin is Fontenott, which is located in the region of Morteau; Dept Doubs, France. The parish church is at Montlebon. This village is just a few miles from Besançon, and about 30 miles from Arcey, home of the PEPE family. (from notes by Father Charles Banet). Constant Dodane sailed to America from Le Havre, 4/11/1838, on the ship "Hylan", and arrived at the Port of New York, June, 1838. The family went directly to the French Settlement of Louisville in Stark County, Ohio.

Microfilm Role #24 - Allen County Public Library: Ship Manifest: Left Le Havre Port, 4.11.1838 DODANE FAMILY, Constantin, age 61, Marie, age 51, Francis, age 24, Sezarie, age 23, Rosalie, age 21, Lenore, age 16, Jean, age 12, and Eugene, age 9.

(Note: There seems to be a controversy between the ages of Francois J. and Joseph Marcelline, I do not think Joseph M. is on the Manifest. Is it a possibility that he came prior to 1838? Eugene Yoquelet.)

Descendants of Constantin Dodane

Immigration record - DODANE, JOSEPH, dec. 5 March, 1851. native of France, b. 2 Feb 1815, emb. Le Havre, 14 Mar 1837, arr. N.Y., 14 Apr. 1837. Allen County Public Library, Bk 1-P 353.

Joseph Marcelline Dodane, and his wife, Caroline, migrated to Allen County, Indiana and settled in Jefferson Township on a farm in section 16. They came to the Besançon before the St. Louis parish was established. The DODANE family was quite active in the early growth and development of the St. Louis Catholic Church. Their home was used on a number of occasions for the 'saying' of Mass. Between 1845 and 1846 Father Bessonies started to administer to the community Catholic families, and it was during this period that he began the erection of a frame church. Messrs. C. F. Lomont and Joseph Dodane bore the bulk of the expense of building, and Frank Sallot did the work.

Recorded in the 1868 "Register", and "Pew Register" with pew # 63, 1870-71, of St. Louis Catholic Church, Besançon.

Again, we ask you to search your photos we might use in upcoming issues. How exciting it is to see an ancestors' name or a school picture! It brings us all closer to our past.

FORT WAYNE and ALLEN COUNTY Directory for 1869 - 1870
(Fort Wayne: A.B. Cook, Jr., compiled and published, 1869)

The following was abstracted from the above directory by Terri Gorney, CGRS. All of those listed below lived in Jefferson Township and had a connection to the community of Besançon or St. Louis Besançon Church. This directory listed: surnames, first names, occupation, whether they owned or rented their land, post office, the road on which they lived, and the distance from Fort Wayne.

Jefferson Township lies in eastern Allen County, Indiana. It is bounded by Milan to the north, Jackson to the east, Madison to the south, and Adams to the west. The surface is generally level, with a few good ridges of excellent land. It is well timbered in the eastern part of the township. The streams are abundant in fish, and there are traces of beaver in many of the creeks. The Maumee River flows through the north western part of the township. The Wabash and Erie canal, and Toledo, Wabash, and Western Railroad pass through the northern and the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway through the south eastern corner of the township. The township contains one Catholic Church (St. Louis Besançon) comprising of 103 families. The population of the township is rated as follows: 615 males; 512 females; total 1,127.

The Besançon Historical Society continues to add to its research collection of a wide variety of manuscripts, typescripts, bound volumes, and photographs. It welcomes all donations of histories, genealogies, and family histories pertaining to the settlement of eastern Allen County, Indiana, surrounding states and communities in foreign countries from which the Indiana settlers came. Recent additions included:

- ♦ Peopling Indiana: an Ethnic Experience edited by Robert M. Taylor and Connie McBirney, 1996 This book contains historical background on various immigrant groups in Indiana in 29 chapters.
- ♦ Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception Commemorative Book; A Sacred Place by Vince LaBarbera, 1999
- ♦ A History of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, Ft Wayne, Indiana by Fr. Phillip A. Widmann, 1990. Both of these books contain history of the Ft Wayne Cathedral. This first includes a history of the renovations of the Church including the most recent.
- ♦ The Alaska Emigration Book by Cornelia Schrader-Muggenthaler, 1989 (2 volumes) These two volumes contain the names, year of birth and place of birth of not only Alsatian emigrants, but emigrants from other parts of France, Germany and Switzerland
- ♦ BESANÇON by Michèle Barrault This is the history and travel guide to the Besançon are of France written in English, French and German.

This building, solidly constructed, is still in use today. Many changes have been made, but the west room on the first floor has housed the first and second grades since 1915. The auditorium is now gone, but it was used for many activities. School plays, parish plays, graduations, bingo and card parties, boxing matches, C.Y.O.dances and parish dinners were held there.

In 1938, the enrollment of 125 pupils, was the largest in the history of the school. The same year was a special one for the school as free bus transportation to the school was approved by the public school board. This privilege allowed every child of the parish living in the township to attend school at St. Louis Academy. When the school opened, the students either walked, were brought by car, or traveled via horse and buggy. There was a barn in the back, about where the recreation hall is, to keep the horses during the day. Drinking water from a bucket and a common dipper, and outside toilets are all memories of St. Louis Academy. The students brought lunches from home and ate in the classrooms. A fond memory of many students is the serving of hot cocoa in the basement after first Friday mass because in those days, one had to fast from midnight in order to go to Holy Communion.

The Sisters of Notre Dame served St. Louis Academy until June 1977, a span of 67 years. Since then, with the exception of Sister Virginia Murphy of the Sisters of St. Agnes from 1979 until October 1981, all have been lay teachers. Today, the principal, Agnes Hart and the school faculty and staff is composed of a good mix of experience and educational background. The school has a 'first class' accreditation. The students are provided the opportunity to live their faith and exercise learning skills and leadership. They enjoy the family-like atmosphere, and the relationship between teacher and student.

A total of 105 students from fifty-six families are presently enrolled and many of them are direct descendants of the original parishioners, some with different last names, but some with the same names that have been a part of St. Louis parish since 1846. When enrollment was down in the seventies and many Catholic elementary schools were closing, thanks to many loyal parishioners and much volunteer work, the school has remained opened and still is, to this day, a small school with dedicated teachers and enthusiastic students who are learning, beside the three 'R's', to love God, neighbor, and country. Église Paroisse de Ronchamp Ronchamp, France

The members of Besançon Historical Society in France last year noticed time and time again a weather van in the shape of a Rooster on top of many of the church steeples. A great many of these Roosters were above the cross.

Several people have offered an explanation, including Marriane Doyle, editor of the French Ancestors, and Ralph Violette, former editor of the Chronicles and a learned student of the French.

One explanation that seems to satisfy everyone is the Pope in the 9th century AD decreed that every church in Europe should show a cock on its dome or steeple, as a reminder of Jesus' prophecy that the cock would not crow the morning after the Last Supper, until the disciple Peter had denounced Him three times (Luke 22:34).

Weather cocks have topped church steeples in Europe and America for centuries.

DEDICATION OF HISTORICAL PLAQUE

The presentation of the "Historical Plaque" to Saint Louis Catholic Church, Besançon was held Sunday, October 29, 2000 after the ten o'clock Mass. Blessing of the plaque along with the restored statues, one being Saint Louis, was performed by Father Stephen Colchin.

An open house was held both at the St. Louis Academy and the Besançon Historical Archives. A sausage and egg breakfast offered by the Home & School Association was a huge success with all proceeds going to the support of the Academy. We were quite pleased to have a number of visitors at the archives.

The past three years a great deal of restoration work has been done to the church, the school, and the surrounding grounds. More work is on the drawing board and work will be done as the funds are available. If any subscribers of BHS would like to make a donation to this wonderful cause, make your checks to: Saint Louis Building Fund, Besançon. 15533 Lincoln Highway East, New Haven, IN., 46774

Please note: This same picture appeared in a newspaper two (2) times. There is no date on the one copy I have, but this paper does note they may have incorrectly identified some of the pupils and ask for corrections. The next copy of the same picture the paper is dated October 8, 1969 and the identity of the some of the students have been changed. This printing is the most recent. Also, it is mentioned in the issue, that there are two (2) Clarence Lomont. The spelling of the names has not been changed from the one copy.
